

Title: The development prospects of

Generated on: 2026-02-26 12:34:30

Copyright (C) 2026 HALKIDIKI BESS. All rights reserved.

Are economic risks affecting development prospects?

Economists warn that economic risks could inflict severe and long-lasting damage on development prospects. The global economy is facing a confluence of risks, which could severely disrupt economic activity and inflict significant damage on longer-term development prospects.

What does UNDP's landscape of development mean for the future?

These opportunities offer pathways to better, fairer futures-- if we choose to seize them. UNDP's Landscape of Development paper marks the first phase in shaping our Strategic Plan 2026-2029. It sheds light on the interconnected and rapidly evolving world we must navigate as we accelerate efforts toward the 2030 Agenda.

What is the future of Growth Initiative?

The report lays the foundation for the Future of Growth Initiative, a two-year campaign aimed at inspiring discussion and action around charting new pathways for economic growth and supporting policy-makers and other stakeholders in balancing growth, innovation, inclusion, sustainability, and resilience goals.

At this pivotal juncture of the century, the Global Economic Prospects report explores the trajectory of EMDE growth over the next quarter-century.

Global economic growth is projected to remain at 2.8 per cent in 2025, unchanged from 2024, according to the United Nations flagship report, World Economic Situation and ...

The Global Economic Prospects report tracks current economic trends, risks, and forecasts across regions. Together, they offer both big-picture thinking and up-to-date analysis, making ...

Our analysis confirms the potential economic impact of the African Continental Free Trade Area (AfCFTA) on South Africa's development. Proximity to rapidly growing ...

UNDP's Landscape of Development paper marks the first phase in shaping our Strategic Plan 2026-2029. It sheds light on the interconnected and rapidly evolving world we ...

Experts from the Global Economy and Development program at Brookings reflect on accomplishments in 2025 and what's ahead for 2026.

The following analytical pieces were published in the World Bank's Global Economic Prospects flagship.

They were produced by the Prospects Group. A selection from other publications is ...

The global economy is facing a confluence of risks, which could severely disrupt economic activity and inflict significant damage on longer-term development prospects.

Website: <https://halkidiki-sarti.eu>

